Servings: 8 (1 Burrito)

Time: 17 minutes

INGREDIENTS

15-ounce can black beans, drained

2 tsp fresh lime juice

Cooking spray

6 large eggs, lightly beaten

8 (8-inch) corn tortillas

1 cup salsa

2 oz. crumbled Cotija cheese (about 1/2 cup)

Lime wedges (optional)

DIRECTIONS

Place beans and lime juice in a small bowl; mash with the back of a spoon until almost smooth.

Heat a large skillet over medium-high heat. Coat pan with cooking spray. Add eggs to pan. Cook, without stirring, until mixture sets on bottom. Draw a spatula across bottom of pan to form curds. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until egg is thickened but still moist. Remove from pan immediately.

Heat skillet over medium heat. Coat pan with cooking spray. Add 1 tortilla to pan. Heat 20 seconds on each side or just until soft. Remove from pan, and keep warm. Repeat procedure with remaining tortillas.

Components

On the home page there will be a slideshow of images of the recipes that we will be using, every 3 seconds the image will change into another. That is what the arrows on the website is signifying. Also on the mobile site, because the navigation bar may be difficult to click on when shrunk down, there will be a “hamburger” menu that will drop down and show the mobile navigation bar screen, displayed as the second mobile layout. Then when you click on the “X” button when in the mobile navigation menu, the menu will exit and go back to the previous screen you were on before clicking the menu.

ABOUT US!

We met in our exciting years at the University of Guelph-Humber. Being in the Media Studies program, both of us saw each other around but stayed acquaintances until our third year, when we specialized into the Digital Communications field. Having smaller classes due to the specialization, as destiny would have it, we finally became better friends, and after a lot of planning came the start of this website!

GREETINGS!

Welcome to Ma's Cookbook! Here you will find a variety of cuisines, ranging from cultures all around the world. We are your helpers, Anesha and Meera, and we will guide you through and teach you how to be an expert in the kitchen. This online cookbook was inspired by our love for cooking and, of course, food!

Ma's Cookbook

Design Philosophy

The design of Ma's Cookbook is simple. We wanted to create a simple, but well put together compilation of recipes that helps our audience cook with ease. The designs are extremely simplistic, think of a homemade recipe book your mom has given to you, this is the feeling we want to go off of. We want the design of this website to make each person feel warm, welcomed and at home, just like a mother's would. Simplism is our main goal and we will achieve that by using simple images, a simple logo, typewriter-like fonts and warm, bold colours.

Branding

By using the specific warm colours and old-fashioned typefaces, I will be able to make the audience feel warm and comforted. The target audience would be young adults who are starting to live on their own and are just learning how to cook. The website will be full of recipes that are cheap and easy to make. When researching competition, I noticed that each recipe had a very complicated story ahead of the actual recipe and I found that extremely difficult to find the recipe and ingredients. We want the content of our website extremely simple. There are many website out there with large spiels about recipes that basically say "this recipe is a good one". We did not intend to have any of this jargon in our website, instead we wanted an extremely simple and straight forward layout without the unnecessary text. It is not necessarily informal, however it is very straight to the point. Therefore I would like to create a website that is extremely easy to use and find exactly what each person is looking for. I hope to see my brand being extensively used and continuously growing to suit the audience.

Experience

The colour scheme is meant to be simple and welcoming. The plain white background is meant to resemble a cookbook and the simplicity of one. The ingredients stand out because it should be the first thing that catches any chef's eye. The back directions and the bold coloured heading are meant to ensure the simplicity, 'actual cookbook' like style. The typeface we chose is bold but not too overpowering. We used san-serifs fonts to keep the theme of simplicity. The bold title of the page is meant to make sure each visitor of the website knows what exactly they're looking at. All the other text is entertaining text to keep the readers attention but is easily readable. It is clear and spacious, but inviting at the same time. We wanted to use a slideshow displaying all the recipes, because in many other sites, there are a ton of pictures that they do not have the recipe for, therefore this will help our recipe website. Furthermore, we have exact images of the foods right about the recipes, we believe this will help our goal because it ensures each person knows what exactly they are in for right before they make it.
